THEIR DUAL LIVES.

Mrs. Charlotte Nichol, Wife of a Prominent Southern Railway Man, Committed Suicide.

UNHOLY LOVE FOR A CHICAGO DENTIST.

The Latter Made an Unsuccessful Attempt to End His Life at the Same Time.

The Woman is the Daughter of Dr. F. A. Shoup, Connected with the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—While grieving over the death of her son, Dr. Orville Burnette, a prominent Chicago dentist, Mrs. Charlotte Nichol, wife of W. L. Nichol, commercial agent of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad, committed suicide Sunday in the Marbrookhouse. Burnette also tried to end his life at the same time, but was unsuccessful.

The two were found in their rooms, both stretched across the bed, the woman dead and Burnette with his neck pinned by a batton, a bolt of sulphur clinched in his hand, and the gas turned on from every one of the six jets in their suite. Dr. Burnette is still alive and has been arrested. In one of the rooms was found a note written by the woman, which told her reason for the act. She said:

"To whom it may concern: I did it because I loved him better than anything on earth, and he loved me, and we could not be separated. Good-bye—Charlotte."

The note, supplemented with a statement made by Dr. Burnette, tells of the tragedy enacted by the two lovers. According to the dentist's story, he met Mrs. Nichol while yet a young girl in Nashville, Tenn., and fell in love with her. Burnette moved to New York and married several years afterward.

"Our love was still strong for each other," said Burnette, "and she moved to Chicago to be near me. We were together nearly every day.

Constant Remorse.

"There seemed, however, to be considerable friction on Burnette's part of the dual life, so she was leading, Saturday we went down town together, and after having seven drinks, she proposed suicide to me, and we went to the Marbrookhouse hotel, and she produced a bottle of morphine and a knife. I refused. She again asked me to die with her, and I consented. Then she swallowed nearly all the contents of the bottle and handed it to me. I drank what was left, but believing that I had not taken enough to prove fatal, I tried to induce her to drink more. She fell into my neck. I saw this was also going to be a failure, so I turned all the gas on and laid down to die."

Burnette stated that his wife knew nothing of his attachment for Mrs. Nichol.

A policeman, who was sent to the Nichol home at 6315 Milmur avenue Sunday night to notify Mr. Nichol of the tragedy, found no one there but the two little children of the dead woman, one a boy of 8 and the other a little girl of 3 years. They told the officer that their father was out looking for a promotion, who had been missing all Saturday night and Sunday.

The Woman's Antecedents.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 21.—Nothing is known here of Dr. Burnette, connected with the suicide of Mrs. W. L. Nichol, Jr., Charlotte, Tenn., who was a daughter of Dr. F. A. Shoup, connected with the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., and before her marriage was popular socially both there and in Nashville, where she spent part of her time.

W. L. Nichol, son of one of the late Dr. W. L. Nichol of Nashville, one of the south's prominent physicians. He is at present commercial agent in Chicago for the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway, but has recently been promoted and was to return to Nashville at an early date. The duties of commercial agent at the company's headquarters there.

HAY LANDS BURNING.

Dangerous Flames in the Vicinity of La Crosse, Wis.—Much Damage Was Wrought.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 21.—Fire was started by lightning in the hill lands which surround the city. The flames are now burning everything before them, and the firemen are powerless, owing to the fire being outside the city limits and beyond water service.

It is believed the fire was started by lightning. Up to the present time it has stacked thousands of tons of hay, all directly in the path of the flames. Although the loss can not be estimated at present, it is thought it will be enormous.

Marquis Ito in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Marquis Ito, the Japanese statesman, who is visiting the United States, arrived in Washington Sunday afternoon. He was met at the railroad station by the Japanese minister, Mr. Takiura, and the entire legation staff, and escorted to the Arlington hotel, where he will remain during his stay in this city. Sunday night, the marquis was entertained at the legation.

COMMONWEALTH CLOSED.

Catch Powers, the Defendant, Took the Stand and Testified in His Own Behalf.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 21.—The completion of the trial of the Powers case early Saturday morning with the testimony of John W. Ray, law clerk to Judge White, of the court of appeals, at Frankfort. He said about an hour before Goebel was shot he would never be governor.

"Why?" asked Ray.

"Because he would be killed, before the joint assembly meets," said Goebel. At 11 o'clock Powers took the stand in his own behalf and pursued the same course as in his defense, admitting all meetings and conversations with Golden, Cuton and others, except such parts of the conversations as tended to implicate him in the conspiracy. In one breath he stated that he told Golden and others to Frankfort to fight the democrats in case they attempted to take the office by force, and in the next breath said that the night Sheriff Burton talked about using cartridges to settle the contest that he (Powers) told him to do the right thing.

The witness was performed in accordance with the devout and reverent traditions of the good old New England days, when the little handful of clergymen gathered together, and with playful supplications, asked divine blessing upon the institution with the hope that it would bring forth the best hymns, orations and pastoral sermons were uttered.

The city, proud in its function as a seat of learning, had decked itself in Yale's colors and presented a splendid spectacle. Blue draperies were everywhere, cut out evergreen, and this general scheme of color was broken only by the graceful folds of the stars and stripes.

The principal address had become an array of blue, adorned at intervals with pictures of President Roosevelt, who on Wednesday is to be Yale's guest. The principal address, however, was acted like a crazy man, and asked Todd to talk with Youncey and get him to stay out of his (Powers') of feet. When he was arrested, he explained, he was unable to get arms and otherwise misinterpreted. He said he advised Wharton Gobin to surrender when it was said a warrant was out for his arrest. Powers told him it was innocent he should give up Gobin at that told him he knew nothing about it.

The services began at 10:30 a.m. From the simple school of 1701 Yale to-day from the greatest a great deal of development had taken place, and after a son from a one-building institution down through the "brick row" to a campus, thence to a second campus, and now to a third, and stretching out in her department buildings to territory as great again.

Special Services in the Churches. In the Battle church, where the bi-centennial was inaugurated, the services were participated in by an assembly as imposing as the exercises were simple.
